

NEWAVE
DISTINGUISHED LECTURE

JAMES SCOTT

21 APRIL 2022
15:00-17:30 CET
AMSTERDAM TIME

“THE FLOOD PULSE”

FOLLOWED BY A ROUNDTABLE
ON MYANMAR'S
HYDROPOLITICS

PROGRAMME

15:00-16:15 James Scott's distinguished lecture

Opening: Dr Diana Suhardiman, director of The Royal Netherlands Institute of Southeast Asian and Caribbean Studies (KITLV), and NEWAVE PhD supervisor

Lecture: James Scott, YALE Sterling Professor

Moderation: Stew Motta, NEWAVE ESR, and Pan Ei Phyo, Oxford Water

16:20-17:30 Roundtable on Myanmar Hydropolitics

Chairs: Stew Motta, NEWAVE Early Stage Researcher

Panelists:

Nang Won Lee, Mae Nam Khone Institute, Myanmar
"Co-creating Knowledge to Enhance Women's Leadership for Inclusive River Governance and Livelihood Resilience in Inlay Lake, Southern Shan State, Myanmar"

Saw John Bright, Karen Environmental and Social Action Network (KESAN), Myanmar
"The Salween Peace Park in Myanmar's shifting political context"

Kyungmee Kim, Researcher, Climate Change and Risk Program, Stockholm International Peace Research Institute (SIPRI)
"Local politics of water: community resistance against dams"

Laur Kiik, Tokyo College, University of Tokyo
"Hydropolitics Meets Ethnopolitics: The Myitsone Dam between Kachins, Bamars, and Chinese"

Please register here